MARYLAND AND IDAHO ENROLL DEWEY BALLOTS
Twenty-four Republican votes go to District Attorney
4 STATES HOLDING PRIMARIES TODAY
California Democrats Registering Views On Third Term

(By Associated Press)
Twenty-four Republican delegates from Maryland and Idaho were enrolled under Thomas E. Dewey's banner today, while California Democrats were registering their third term views in a complicated primary election.

Dewey delegates led an unopposed slate by more than seven to one in Maryland's Republican primary yesterday. At the same time the Idaho Republican convention broke tradition and voted 133 to 68 to instruct its eight delegates to support the New York district attorney.

Radcliffe Renominated
Maryland Democrats, with no presidential aspirant running on their preferential ballot, renominated Sen. George Radcliffe, one-time business associate of President Roosevelt, by nearly a two to one margin over National Committee member Howard Bruce.

In the California Democratic primary, four delegate slates were entered. One was pledged to President Roosevelt and one to Vice President Garner. Two others, one of which was led by "ham and eggs" pension forces, were unopposed. One unopposed slate was on the Republican ballot.

Besides the California voting, there were primaries today in four other states as follows:
ALABAMA: Democrats were selecting 22 national convention delegates from men pledged to the favorite son candidacy of Speaker Bankhead. Bankhead was unopposed for renomination to the house, but five colleagues had opposition.

88 For Third Term
FLORIDA: More than half the 88 candidates for 14 national convention votes announced support of a third term. Sen. Charles Andrews was opposed for Democratic renomination by five candidates, including Governor Fred P. Cone.

INDIANA: Both major parties were choosing nominees for 12 house seats, along with state convention delegates. Townsend pension forces were trying to defeat Reps. Charles A. Halleck and George W. Gillie, Republicans.

REVEALS TALENT FOR LEADERSHIP
And, As Dictator, He Can Strike With Exceeding Speed

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 7.—An angry opposition cried out in the house of commons today for "different people at the helm" after Prime Minister Chamberlain, frankly admitting failure of Britain's central Norwegian military adventure, had defended its start and result with the plea: "I believe it was right."

In the most violent parliamentary debate since the war began, the old prime minister and his war cabinet were branded as "failures" by Clement R. Attlee, the Labor opposition leader. He said they had been "missing buses since 1931."

Chamberlain, who is expected to keep his grip on the government despite the storm of parliamentary abuse, confessed the Allied troops had to be withdrawn from mid-Norway because they could not get airbases for fighting planes and because the German reinforcements came up too fast.

Will Work Directly With War Chiefs

Previously Churchill had been head of a committee of defense ministers in the cabinet. Now he will work directly with the chiefs of staff of army, navy and air force themselves.

After Attlee had exploded his attack, Sir Archibald Sinclair, the Liberal opposition leader, assailed the situation "in which we had to accept defeat in Norway" and attacked the government's "ill-founded boasting."

It was the first day of a two-day debate on the Norwegian reverse. Chamberlain's speech in general was an anxious appeal for unity both in parliament and among the people in the face of dangers which, he said, the nation did not yet appreciate.

He said the campaign was not yet finished in Norway, but he warned the country to remember: "There are other fronts which may at any moment blaze into a conflagration."

Attlee accused both Chamberlain and Churchill of "complacency" and "over-optimistic" statements and voiced his dissatisfaction with the present war cabinet and opposed Churchill's new appointment as "against all good rules."

The people, Attlee declared, were not satisfied that the war was being waged "with sufficient energy, industry or results," and the men of leadership "showed everywhere they were too late."

Missed "Peace Bus" and Caught War

Again and again he warned of the danger of "being tempted into such dispersal of our forces as might suit the purpose of the enemy."

Chamberlain sought to dismiss attacks on his remark of April 9 that "Hitler missed the bus" by saying he made it before the Norwegian invasion. But one opposition heckler shouted, "If Hitler missed the bus you missed the boat."

FIRE DESTROYS EMPTY DWELLING ON S. BROADWAY

Brilliant Work By Fire Fighters Prevents Flames' Spread

STIFF WIND IS CONSTANT THREAT

Adjoining Building Occupied by Immanuel Mission Is Saved

Members of the Salem fire department, aided by volunteers, succeeded in preventing the spread of flames which destroyed an unoccupied dwelling and damaged the adjoining Immanuel Mission on S. Broadway, opposite the Columbia st. intersection, late Monday afternoon.

Goes Like Matchwood
The structure, which had never been fully rebuilt following a fire about 10 years ago, was like matchwood. It was already a mass of flames when firemen were called at 4:09 p. m.

The smoke was carried toward the business district, attracting hundreds of persons to the scene. Firemen were aided by citizens in pouring water on the fire. Their efforts were successful in checking the blaze which had spread to the two-story frame building adjoining.

The fire destroyed a large billboard in front of the house and also cracked a window in the Hilliard grocery across the street.

Damaged By Smoke and Water
The house where the fire started was owned by Mrs. Gussie Gamble of Lorain, formerly of Salem. The Immanuel Mission building is owned by the Demio estate. C. M. Andrews, pastor of the mission, and his wife occupy an upstairs apartment while Mr. and Mrs. William Bosso live in a rear downstairs apartment.

The apartments were damaged, principally by smoke and water. Police issued tickets to four motorists who drove over fire hose. They are to appear in the mayor's court.

PORCH WRECKED IN AUTO CRASH

Snodes Station Family Hurlled Into Yard; Escape Injury

Traffic accidents, including one which a car demolished a porch on which three persons were sitting, brought injury to six persons Monday night.

Thomas Seidner, 45, of Snodes station, and his two daughters, aged 10 and 17, were hurled from the front porch of their home when it was struck by a car operated by Leroy Stanley, 29, of R. D. 2, Beloit, at 7:55 p. m.

Stanley lost control of the car after crossing the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Snodes station and the car hit the porch. Something went wrong with the steering apparatus of the machine. State Patrolmen P. D. Barnes and C. W. Cole said.

Escape Serious Injury
The impact hurled Seidner and his two daughters into the yard but, luckily, they escaped serious injury. Seidner suffered a possible broken left ankle and numerous body lacerations. He is confined to the Central Clinic. The daughters also were treated for bruises and lacerations and later taken home.

A motorcycle accident at 8:45 p. m. on the Benton road put Richard L. Winter of Louisville in City hospital with a fractured right leg. Police reported that Winter hit the rear of an automobile, driven by L. J. Beatty of Alliance, which slowed down for the old S. ark Electric crossing.

Three Alliance men were injured when their car, driven by Edward Carl Lucas, 20, of R. D. 1, Alliance, struck a pole and was demolished on Route 62, one mile east of Alliance, at 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

Lucas suffered a possible broken right arm and facial lacerations. Milton Parker of 1425 S. Liberty st., Alliance, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, besides bruises and lacerations, and Earl Ganslein of 1501 Grace ave., Alliance, another passenger, received lacerations about the chest and face.

The three were removed to the Alliance City hospital. Salem state patrolmen said Lucas' car was demolished.

BOSSSES GUESTS AT J-C DINNER

Youngstown Man Speaker At Annual Junior Chamber Fete

A plea for a better and deeper understanding of our fellowmen was sounded by Rev. Roland Luhman, pastor of the First Reformed church of Youngstown, in an address at the second annual "Bosses' night" dinner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the Christian church.

"What America needs, he pointed out, to prevent conditions similar to those existing in Europe today, is more light, or knowledge, to banish ignorance; power, or faith in ourselves, to banish fear, and heat, or a heart warmth for a better understanding of others."

"We in America," he charged, "are suffering from a disease of the head—ignorance, and tragedy of it is that we are doing little about it. The remedy might be termed 'light.'"

Continuing, Rev. Luhman said we also suffer from a disease of the spine. We've developed more wishbone than backbone; we have a fear of a disbelief in ourselves, and it's time we had a little faith in ourselves and fear will be eradicated.

The third disease from which America is suffering, he added, "is a disease of the heart—apathy, or an indifference toward our fellowmen. A warmth of affection for others and religious tolerance is needed today in this cold, cruel world."

He paused to say that some of the greatest men in Salem today were those who, in the next few days, would campaign for the Community Chest fund so that the less fortunate might be aided.

There are two classes of people in the world, builders and operators, he pointed out. "What we need is more builders."

The dinner attracted about 60 Junior Chamber members and their bosses. Dr. George F. Jones, head of the organization, introduced the newly-elected president, Herbert Brown, and Craig S. Hollis introduced the speaker.

BOARD UNABLE TO GIVE USUAL SALARY BOOSTS

Teacher Turnover Small; Many Now at Maximum Schedule

FEW CHANGES IN APPOINTMENTS

Three Who Married During Year Omitted From List

The board of education, in hiring Salem public school teachers for the 1940-41 term last night, omitted the customary wage increases given for continued service.

It has been the policy of the board to employ teachers and vote annual salary raises until a maximum is reached. Supt. E. S. Kerr explained that so many teachers were being paid the maximum that the board's payroll fund had reached "the saturation point."

This has resulted from the fact that the teacher turnover here has been so small that additional money for raising other teachers' wages has not been provided.

The automatic increases would have totaled around $1,500. The board's only other alternative, it was explained, would have been to grant the raises, add up the total and make a general percentage cut in all salaries.

Elementary teachers are hired at $900, usually, and are increased to $1,200. The high school range is from $1,200 to $2,000. The Salem teachers are paid on a 12-month basis.

One Exception Made
Board members did, however, raise the salary of Beman G. Ludwig, Junior High school principal, $120 a year to $2,750 in view of meritorious work.

There were a few changes in teaching appointments. Miss Viola Bodo and Miss Marye Louise Miller, who have been acting as regular substitutes at the high school, were employed as regular instructors.

Miss Bodo will continue as drama teacher while Miss Miller is expected to teach French.

Miss Hazel Douglas, who has been on a leave of absence for the past year, is among those hired for the new term.

Three teachers not re-appointed because they were married during the past school year include Dorothy Harroff (Mrs. Robert Johnson) at the high school, Rebecca Harris (Mrs. William Luce) at McKinley and Edith Whitacre (Mrs. Charles Goodman) at Prospect.

All appointments and present building assignments are as follows:

High School
Harold M. Williams, principal, Ethel Beardsley, Claribel Bickel, Viola Bodo, Chester M. Brautigan, Herbert H. Brown, Ray B. Clarke, Frederick E. Cope, Mrs. Marion Cox, Hazel L. Douglas, Loren D. Early, E. A. Engelhart.

John C. Guiler, Sarah M. Hanna, M. Maude Hart, A. V. Henning, Richard W. Hingendorf, Mildred Hollett, Herbert W. Jones, Thero R. Jones, H. C. Lehman.

THE BOOM FOR WENDELL WILLKIE

Probably no presidential boom ever "just grown." Eur. judged by scattered reports, the boom for Wendell Willkie comes mighty close to being spontaneous generation.

Visitors lately returned from New York and Washington report that Mr. Willkie is the most talked about man in political conversation. This is despite the fact he isn't, never has been, in politics.

Origin of interest apparently is the viewpoint on national affairs he has been putting into the record the last few years as an independent commentator. When the managing editor of Fortune magazine, Russell W. Davenport, resigned last Thursday to further Mr. Willkie's nomination by the Republican party for president he explained that his interest began with a round table discussion in which Mr. Willkie participated.

Whatever force may develop from the Willkie boom will come from the same place—admiration for the man's concise, lucid statements of a philosophy opposed to the spread of centralized authority, state socialism and restriction on freedom of the individual. As a thinker, writer and speaker Mr. Willkie has compelled attention to his potentialities as a politician. Politicians try to reverse that process.

The fact remains that the odds against the boom in Mr. Willkie's behalf being anything more than a noise offstage are something like a thousand to one. Registered as a Democrat, he is being proposed for the Republican nomination. He is without delegates and without the means of obtaining delegates. His name is not generally known. His big business connection is against him at a time when business baiting is "good" politics.

Nevertheless, it is comforting to find proof that a straight thinker—a liberal in the classical tradition—can build up a following in the United States wholly outside political parties. Mr. Willkie may never get to first base in a race for office, but he has scored a home run in the contest for intellectual leadership.

THREE AND OUT

Poland, Finland and Norway. Three up and three down. Three Allied sympathizers and three victims of Allied military ineffectuality in a pinch.

While the outcome in Norway falls short of being as conclusive as that in Poland and Finland, it may be assumed nothing will happen there in the near future to restore loss of Allied prestige. But in Europe, unlike America, three strikes do not necessarily mean failure. Europeans don't play baseball.

Perhaps the matter of prestige is stressed too much. But national existence in Europe is precarious. Governments cannot afford to back a loser. Regardless of what they like, they must take what is good for them.

Italy would not be making friendly gestures toward Germany if Premier Mussolini thought the Allies were going to win. He could be wrong, of course, but the important thing is that he could be right.

Everything that has happened since the war started strengthens the latter possibility. Every government in Europe—every government in the world—has been forced to take note of indications that in the new struggle to change the balance of power in Europe it is Germany which is winning early honors.

AXIOM FOR 1940

Don't count your votes before they're hatched.

Something went wrong somewhere. The house judiciary committee voted secretly 14 to 10 to pigeonhole Sen. Hatch's bill extending the spirit of clean politics to state jobholders getting part of their pay from the federal government.

Afterward, Rep. Dempsey of New Mexico, house sponsor of the measure, told a newspaperman 14 committee members told him they had voted not to pigeonhole the bill. Rep. Dempsey filed a petition to wrest the bill from the committee and in no time at all had 103 of the 218 signatures needed.

If the boys aren't careful the prize political pun of the year will cease to be funny for some of them.

NEW PROPAGANDA DRIVE

(By The Associated Press)

Nazi Germany unleashed today a propaganda blast which she declared revealed Allied machinations to spread the war to the southeast.

It came as attention centered on the British house of commons where Prime Minister Chamberlain, his government under fire, was answering pointed questions about the why and wherefore of the Allies' failure to stop the German drive through Norway.

The controlled German press published under glaring headlines the story of an alleged telephone conversation between Chamberlain and French Premier Reynaud which purported to indicate that May 15 or soon thereafter the Allied Near East command would be set for "ordered action."

No direct statement was made on what that "ordered action" might be. Official London circles said the whole story was "fantastic." A French official communiqué said the German story was "a question of purely lying allegations."

Those in touch with the German scene saw two purposes in the German press story, first, to implant in German minds Allied responsibility if the war should spread to the Balkans or the Near East; second, to draw the Allies into revealing their intentions.

In Egypt, vital area about the Suez canal, preparations for defense hit a higher pace.

From British official circles in Egypt came a hint that any change that is to come in Italy's neutral status as an ally of warring Germany could be expected within seven days.

Practice air raid warnings were in force, a blackout was ordered, anti-aircraft and coast defense guns were manned constantly and a reinforced Allied fleet, ready for action, lay anchored in Alexandria harbor.

About 70,000 Italian residents in Egypt grew restive. It was reported that hundreds of anti-Fascist Italians were applying for Egyptian citizenship.

Communication channels were kept clear to Rome, London, Paris and Washington. The hope that appeals by Pope Pius XII or President Roosevelt might keep the war out of the Mediterranean was cherished by Egyptians and British sources alike.

DOES THE removal of the tonsils affect the voice?

Singers used to be cautioned against having their tonsils out. It was said that their removal would influence the register of the voice so that the whole range would be lowered.

According to modern beliefs, removal of the tonsils enlarges the throat cavity, both in breadth and height, which tends to result in a fuller and more resonant voice. If the operation is advisable the singer can be assured that no unfavorable change will take place. In fact, the removal of the tonsils does not affect the singing or the speaking voice either one way or the other in most instances. Only if a heavy scar remains is the voice changed for the worse.

Throat surgeons who are used to treating opera, stage and screen folk advise that the voice should be used soon after a tonsil operation—scale exercises the first two or three days after, humming at first. On the sixth day after operation a trial at singing should be made, but using only half the volume.

Treatment of "Trench Mouth" What is trench mouth—nature of infection, treatment and consequences?

Vincent's angina is an infectious disease which seems to have been endemic throughout the world for a long time, but was not forcibly brought to the attention of more than a few physicians and dentists until it became epidemic in the armies during the World war, when it became known as "trench mouth." Since then it has occurred with increasing frequency in the civilian population. It affects the tonsils, soft palate and especially the gums, where a chronic form may supervene on the acute phase. The affected parts have an ugly gray membrane, underneath which the parts are likely to bleed. A fetid odor of the breath is common.

Its Treatment

In treatment, hot water, gargles and rest, with a liquid diet (the mouth is too sore to allow of solid food), should be used during the acute stage. Later, antiseptics such as hydrogen peroxide or tincture of iodine should be applied to the infected areas. "Reasoner and Gill have shown that toilet soaps have a germicidal property toward the offending germs, and may be used as dentifrices with benefit.

A chronic form occurs in which little pain or soreness develops. The gums are red and spongy, bleed easily and often a little puss can be squeezed from the gum margin. Many cases of pyorrhea have the Vincent's germs as the causative organisms. Such cases are best treated by the dentist.

In still another group of cases, the Vincent's germs can be cultivated from the mouth, but they are doing no harm, simply living on the mouth secretions.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

S. L. M.: "Please furnish a list of up-to-date books on human foot anatomy and foot disorders. Do you recommend arch supports for weak feet? I have been advised to get made-to-measure arch supports. Are these superior to the ready-made kind?"

Answer: Dickson and Diveley's "Functional Disorders of the Foot" (published by Lippincott) is a modern exposition of foot troubles. I do not recommend any single method of treatment for weak feet. Some need arch supports, others exercise. Made-to-measure supports are naturally better; your feet didn't get flat on a ready-made pattern.

The CAIRO GARTER MURDERS

CHAPTER XIX

In his letter box at the Hotel du Nil, Hugh North found two notes from Melhorne inquiring about their tentative dinner engagement, and a card from someone—a lady, so the polygraph operator said—who had declined to leave a name. He was urged to call the lady's name and ask for a certain table number if he returned before midnight.

Heaving a regretful sigh, North firmly decided to forego a possibly pleasant little adventure in the interests of study and the detailed plotting of a campaign with Bruce Kilgour. Besides, he wanted to think.

Why had Melhorne gone to see Head Pasha? Had Natika shared his guess by accident? And speaking of accidents, what about that jug? Blamed thing hadn't missed by much. But above all, what about Melhorne? An odd pair, she and Natika—self-assured and beautiful, both of them, but there the resemblance between them ceased.

Captain North took out the murdered agent's papers and read them from end to end again, but all the while kept a weather eye on the clock.

What the dickens could be keeping Bruce? A glance at his watch showed one o'clock, but he went on until, at two-thirty, he was able without hesitation to re-off the catalog list and wholesale prices of all the death-dealing implements manufactured by Messrs. Heinemann and Schlager.

Concluding that Kilgour had, perhaps, struck a trail too hot to follow, North undressed and turned on after taking every possible precaution to secure door and windows.

Bright and early he arose, ordered a café complet which he consumed on his little balcony while watching a gathering stir and bustle on the street below. What would this day bring?

"Perhaps it's as well I don't know," he philosophized with unconscious felicity.

After breakfast, he hired a private office and rang up half-a-dozen persons marked as "possible clients" in Follinsbee's notebook.

Three of the prospects were definitely, almost breathlessly interested. When could they appear? He gave them appointments and felt his pulse rate mount. It was all too possible he had unwittingly spoken just now with some agent of the murderous Armstrongs.

"Time out of six, not so bad. They'll do as a starter," he decided, and returning to his room, was just in time to hear his phone commence to ring with an imperative insistence. It proved to be Natika Black. Her voice was as soft and deep as ever, but plaintive, he thought, and wodered why.

"I'm going to be very forward," she announced. "Will you give me lunch today? I would so like to see you again, mon ami."

North thought quickly then hesitated, fighting his inclinations.

"It would be a vast privilege, but I—"

"Non pas! I will not take 'no' for an answer," Natika declared, and her voice suggested honey poured from a crater of Venetian glass. "You will lose nothing by giving a poor girl a crust and a cup of milk. Please, mon cher."

"It would be grand fun—" Still North wavered, fencing for time to recall their last conversation.

"Suppose I told you that this had to do with business?"

"Oh."

Pique was evident in Natika's voice. "Oh, you Anglo-Saxons! One has to use the ball of business with you. You disappoint me, mon ami. That is twice within twenty-four hours you have been ungallant," she added. "You may take it as a supreme compliment that I called you at all today."

"I'm frightfully sorry, Miss Black, but I'm hanged if I know what you mean, twice?"

"What do I mean?" Momentarily, lightning departed from Natika's voice and she sounded genuinely angry. Of course you have forgotten what I told you as you were leaving Hasid's cocktail party?"

"Well, well," North did the only thing he could do and laughed right out loud. "Why, I never thought for a moment you really did expect me last evening."

"But I did, mon cher. You disappointed me horribly—wounded my self-esteem to the quick. Ah—the garden was so lovely! I really started every time the telephone rang. At last I became desolate and let a friend—a nice boy in the German Legation—take me out to dance at the Ibis. I even drowned my shame and called you home, Am I not generous?"

"Please try to forgive me," North pleaded. "I'll do my best to make up for it. I'm not usually such a fool. Will you let me at the Café Khamoun around noon?"

He replaced the receiver, conscious of a little tickle of vanity. After all, it was pleasing to be yearned for by so exotic a creature as Natika Black.

Resolutely he passed an eraser over his mental slate, seated himself at the desk and was deliberating his next step when the desk rang up to say that someone with an appointment, a Mr. Davidov, was below. North directed the caller should be shown to his temporary office on the floor below. Starting for the door with Follinsbee's brief case in hand he felt his nerves tighten. Below was one of the class to which Armstrong belonged. Possibly Armstrong himself. He paused, tried the action of his 32 and promised himself that before any black garters were put on his arm he'd have company in crossing the border of life.

There was presently shown into his office a fox-faced Bulgar with eyes like gimlets and a distressing snuffle. Furtiveness and suspicion were his outstanding characteristics as he sidled in slowly, jerking a series of elaborate bows.

"Vot a pleasure, Herr North! Vot a pleasure. No idea haft you so glad ve are to hear that your so distinguished firm is about to—er—reopen."

Suddenly as a beacon turned on alarm flashed into the Bulgar's small eyes. "Might I see your credentials?"

"Crossing to the window, he surveyed the various documents with meticulous care, even holding one

Mrs. Eva S. Ashley spent the weekend with her aunt, Mrs. Roxie P. Wood, at Columbus.

Miss Marie Rueff spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. L. H. Munsemeyer, at Kent.

LONDON—A letter from an ex-soldier who is trying to find a Canadian who borrowed $10 from him in the World war has been received by the headquarters of the "Strangely enough," says the letter, "I have not heard from him since."

"We will," North assured him with genuine feeling.

"Ach, I hope so! A hundred thousand pounds I through Wolff's death lost. One hundred thousand pounds profit for someone else! Davidov added viciously. "That I do not like."

Inwardly North deliberated, then attempted a leading remark. "There is no cause for worry. Within a week your order will receive."

"A week!" Mr. Davidov's voice was first shrill, then faint. "A week! Javeh! Javeh! Within four days at the latest I must have it."

"Five days, then?" Um Things were coming to a head.

"No! No! Four days at the longest, the very latest. After that I am not interested." Sweat sprang out, unattractively bedewing the Bulgar's shiny forehead. He was almost snarling, his eyes hard and bright and his dirty hands working. "The contract you can tear up! Do you hear? In the Niles you can throw it. Four days! You will make delivery?" He had changed face abruptly, had become wheedling.

Deeply interested, North drawled, "Well, by straining the point I might be able to get it here in five."

"Yoi! Four days I tell you! Four! Four!" Mr. Davidov exploded, elevating a quartet of fingers much resembling abbreviated sausages. "After that—poof!"

Gratified by certain deductions resultant from this outburst, North promised delivery and tactfully terminated the interview.

Once the door had closed, Captain North slumped onto a chair, caught up his cherished pipe and fixed unseeing eyes on a porcelain cup decorating the center of the mantelpiece. Four days, eh?

"Hugh, my boy, is it smarter to stall, or is it more sabio to let this unwashed Balkan come for a bunch of no-good arms and see if Armstrong tries to hijack him? He decided to mull over the question a little longer.

DAVEY vs. BRICKER

A Convincing Parallel

The name Davey is used here for brevity. It is intended to include all the department heads and the legislature.

Former Gov. Martin L. Davey

Davey balanced the state budget every year without new taxes and without any financial juggling.

VETOED APPROPRIATIONS

Davey vetoed over $15,000,000 in unnecessary appropriations, in order to save money for Ohio taxpayers.

TAX REDUCTION

Davey gave the people of Ohio $72,000,000 tax reductions from 1935 to 1940 inclusive. He repealed the sales tax on food, cut automobile license fees $2,000,000 a year, cut farmers' truck fees $1,000,000 a year, reduced admissions taxes from 10% to 3%, cut intangible taxes from 6% to 5%, etc., etc.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Davey gave Ohio the great public school foundation law, which reopened the closed schools and saved the school system for this state.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Davey increased old age pensions twice by executive order—the first time $10 per month and the second time 10%.

Davey promises to increase old age pensions in accordance with the new federal law, and he promises to return all the property to the old age pensioners which the state has taken from them. Davey makes good his promises.

LABOR ATTITUDE

Davey has been a friend of labor for many years throughout his long service in Congress and as Governor of Ohio. He produced much favorable legislation that is now on the statute books.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Davey set up the unemployment insurance department in Ohio and organized it on a business basis with one of the lowest overhead costs. He left over $100,000,000 in that fund. Under his management, Ohio was the only state in the Union which was ready to pay unemployment insurance benefits as soon as the law permitted.

CARE OF HIGHWAYS

Davey kept the highways of Ohio cleared of snow, and covered the icy places promptly with sand or ashes. He kept the highways of the state in fine traveling condition, better than the surrounding states. The result was a sharp decline in winter accidents. He built more miles of good roads for the same money, and kept the highways repaired.

CONSERVATION

Davey took Conservation out of politics and made the Conservation Division one of the best in the United States. He did more for Conservation in 4 years than had been done in the previous quarter of a century. He kept Conservation out of politics, and appointed men who knew their jobs. He gave all sportsmen's fees to Conservation, paid back the money previously withheld, secured large Federal sums, and gave Ohio its only great program.

DIVISION OF INSURANCE

Davey put a high-class insurance man in charge of the Division of Insurance and kept it free of politics. He raised the standard of that division so that it ranked with the best in this country.

CLOSED BANKS

Davey inherited closed banks with 500 million dollars of deposits, and closed Building and Loans with over 100 million deposits. He made the best record of any state in the Union, returning 84% to the depositors. The next highest state paid only 70%. He finished the work of reorganizing or liquidating all but 18 of 169 closed banks, and finished with a big majority of the closed Building & Loans.

CIVIL SERVICE ATTITUDE

Davey respected the Civil Service Laws of Ohio. In only a few cases did he discharge Civil Service employees, and only then when the employees violated the law by pernicious political activity. Davey kept nearly all the experienced personnel of the Ohio government, in order that the departments could function efficiently and economically in the public interest.

PROGRESSIVE LEGISLATION

Davey passed many progressive and constructive laws for the benefit of the masses of the people. His record is the best in 20 years or more.

TRUTH IN PUBLIC OFFICE

Davey told the truth to the people when he was Governor. He did not resort to misrepresentation or tricky devices regarding the affairs of the state.

STATE REVENUES

Davey had to get along on greatly reduced state revenues in 1938, because of bad business conditions. And still he balanced the budget without letting anyone go cold and hungry. He met all the state's legal and moral obligations, and net a cash balance in the Treasury for his successor. Davey raised the pay of the poorly paid workers.

TREATMENT OF MINORITIES

Davey gave representation in the Ohio government to all the groups of this state. For the first time in history, he gave important positions to representatives of all the minority groups. He believes that all citizens are entitled to proper representation, so that all may feel "this is my government."

THIS IS ONLY PART OF THE STORY. THE REST WILL BE TOLD LATER.

Theater Attractions

One of the most successful and popular of film series are the Dr. Kildare stories, the latest of which, "Dr. Kildare's Strange Case," with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore, will be the State's Wednesday and Thursday feature.

Lew Ayres as the young diagnostician whose progress in medicine is guided by the veteran Dr. Gillespie, played by Lionel Barrymore. Laraine Day as their attractive nurse-helper, and Samuel S. Hinds and Emma Dunn as the young doctor's parents are again seen in the cast.

The new picture presents a case assigned to the younger man by the older Dr. Gillespie, in which the interne has to be both doctor and detective to bring a patient back to sanity and save the reputation of a brilliant brain surgeon, whose career is being threatened by rumor.

The fourth in the Kildare series is a worthy successor to the others, combining human drama, suspense and romance in generous portions. The picture is recommended as excellent film entertainment for the entire family.

Concluding tonight at the State is the screen version of Howard Spring's absorbing novel, "My Son, My Son," with Brian Aherne, Madeleine Carroll and Louis Hayward.

At the Grand Wednesday only are: A mystery, "The Fatal Hour," with Boris Karloff, Grant Withers and Marjorie Reynolds; and "The Courageous Dr. Christian" featuring Jean Herscholt.

Twenty-Four Republican Votes Go To District Attorney

SOUTH DAKOTA: Republican and Democratic national delegations of eight members each were unimpaired. Congressional candidates in each party had no opposition but were gubernatorial contests.

While selection of convention delegates continued, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) suggested in Washington that Democratic leaders take a cue from the Republicans and meet in advance of the national convention July 15 to draft "fundamental principles" for a party platform.

Will Draft Platform
The Republican platform committee will gather in Philadelphia a week before that party's June 24 convention to begin work on its declaration of policy.

From another well-informed senator, it was learned that President Roosevelt already is formulating his ideas for the Democratic platform and that his followers were planning to present them to the platform committee in detail.

Republican platform talk brought a suggestion from Senator Nye (R-Iowa) that the party should approve a foreign policy plank "suggesting strong, specific steps for keeping out of war."

HERE IS A FARM IN A CLASS BY ITSELF FOR FRUIT AND BERRIES
Sixty-eight acres about three miles from Salem; 18 acres in good apple orchard; practically all winter varieties, such as Red Delicious, Staygreen Winesap, and several other good varieties. This orchard is in good shape; the trees have been well-cared for and they are just growing into more value. Two years ago, this orchard picked 3,000 bushels of apples; it is large enough now to pick at least 5,000 bushels. Also about 7 acres of strawberries. There is a wonderful spring which furnishes all of the water needed to spray the orchard. Good 6-room house, bank barn. Electricity available. Children hauled to school. Now, if you have a family, and they are willing to work, this farm should make money.
I am also going to offer one-half interest in 40 acres of young fruit; this tract is set with peach and apple trees. The peach orchard should be right in its prime in another year. This orchard has also been well-cared for and is a real picture.
I have another one-half interest to sell in a 30-acre tract. I can sell you the 68-acre tract with buildings, orchard and berries separately, or I can sell the one-half interest in either of the other two tracts separately. If interested, ask me for more particulars as this property must be sold.

DEFEAT DROPS INDIANS INTO SECOND PLACE

But Cleveland Remains Four Games Ahead of Yankees

BOSTON, May 7.—The Indians are in second place today, half a game behind the Red Sox, but the Cleveland players consider themselves leading the American league by four games.

This strange-sounding reasoning is explained by the position of the Championship Yankees in the race, the New Yorkers being sixth and four games behind the Red Sox. The Indians believe the Yanks the team to beat and thus gauge their progress in relative fashion.

Their respect for Sox on increased somewhat yesterday, however, as the Hub City lads pounded Willis Hudlin from the mound to win, 8 to 5. The victory put the Sox back in first, evened the series at one apiece and left to 22-year-old Mike Nymick the task of taking the rubber contest today. The six-foot-eight youth's pitching foe was to be 40-year-old Bob Grove.

The Sox pounded Hudlin hard in the fourth and continued to shell Johnny Humphries, closing the inning with six runs.

Sox Get Relief

The Indians drove Emerson Dickman to cover in the sixth, but were snuffed off with two runs because the Sox, unlike Cleveland, had relief pitching.

Boston tallied a run in the first on two hits, but Cleveland evened the score the next inning on Ken Keltner's single and a triple by Rollie Hemley. The Indians took a short-lived lead in the fourth with two runs on a homer by Ben Chapman and triples by Hal Trosky and Jeff Heath.

Dickman's retirement in the sixth followed singles by Keltner and Heath. Hemley managed to plane one run off Relief Hurler Jack Wilson and another came in on a passed ball. But the Tribe smothered only two hits off Wilson the rest of the game.

Ken Jungels and Bill Zuber managed to stop the Boston attack after the barrage against Hudlin and Humphries, but it was too late then.

The Indians move to New York tomorrow for a two-game series with the Yankees, returning home Friday to face the St. Louis Browns.

Toledo Loses To Kansas City, 4-3

(By Associated Press) A hero one day and a bum the next—that's the experience of pitcher Ed Cole and Mickey Haefner in the American association's skin-tight flag race.

Cole baffled Kansas City Sunday in scattering nine hits for a Toledo victory. But he couldn't fool the Blues yesterday in a relief role, being charged with the loss as Kansas City tripped the Mudhens, 4 to 3, in 12 innings.

Haefner's experience was the opposite. The Minneapolis rookie won a Sabbath decision as a relief hurler but was knocked out of the box yesterday as Louisville won, 4 to 3.

St. Paul treated Indianapolis' Bob Logan with no less consideration, knocking the league's leading pitcher off the bill with 13 hits in less than six innings. The Saints cracked out 21 hits off Logan and three successors for a 16 to 4 decision.

Milwaukee and Columbus were idle yesterday, playing their Monday game as a part of a Sabbath doubleheader.

BOWLING RESULTS

The 12-team Quaker City league neared the finish of its 1939-40 season at the Grate Recreation alleys last night with the top-ranking Colonial Finance, already assured of the championship, remaining seven games out in front.

The Finance five turned in two wins over the Masons in its next-to-last match. The league will complete its season next Monday night.

The second-place Columbiana Tyne Club remained seven games behind the Finance by gaining two wins over Burt Capel Realty.

Other matches saw Althouse Motors sweep three games from Coy Buicks, Grate Ford V-8's win two games from Flooding & Reynard, the Hotel Lape take three games from the Salem Motor and the Golden Eagle gain three wins over Recreation Billiards on a forfeit.

FIVE PREAKNESS HORSES SET FOR TUNE-UP STAKES

Five Candidates for Pimlico Feature To Run In Trial Race

BAITIMORE, May 7.—A real Preakness atmosphere settled over old Pimlico today with the five candidates for the $50,000-added classic set for a tune-up in the Survivor stakes and the Kentucky Derby winner, Gallabard, due to arrive from Louisville.

Accompanying Gallabard, the surprising colt from the stable of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, was C. S. Howard's Midland, fourth in the derby. Both are considered certain starters in the golden jubilee running of the Preakness Saturday.

The Survivor stakes, sixth race on today's program, is Pimlico's traditional pre-Preakness test for three-year-olds.

Oddly, all five of the Preakness candidates entered in the survivor are owned by women. They are Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Merry Knight, Snow Ridge and Asp; Mrs. G. D. Widener's Your Chance and Mrs. Anthony Pelletier's Sun Pharo.

Might Be Hunch Light might be a glimmer of light here for the hunch players, who will be keenly aware that Gallabard is also owned by a woman. But only three times in the history of the Preakness have women owners won it.

Three others in addition to the Preakness candidates were entered in the $2,500-added, mile and a sixteenth survivor. They were Hugh Dufford's Cockrel, W. H. Lipscomb's Quatremore and Mac Thorn farm's Run By.

Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimblech, nosed out in the derby, arrived here yesterday, accompanied by three other derby "dust-eaters"—Arnold Hanger's Dit, W. L. Brann's Pic-tor and Tower Stable's Royal Man—all labeled as definite Preakness starters.

Charleston Wins Over Akron, 8-4

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 7.—The Charleston Senators won their first Mid-Atlantic league victory of the season last night, at the expense of the top-ranking Akron Yankees.

The Senators piled up four runs in the first inning and then doubled the figure to give the Yankees their first defeat, 8 to 4. Dick Conover was driven from the Akron pitcher's mound before the first inning was over.

Yung's own maintained its league leadership by pulling victory out of the fire in the ninth inning to beat Portsmouth, 4 to 3, behind Clarence Iot's three-hit pitching.

Canton blanked the Dayton Wings, 2 to 0, to even their series. Two errors helped account for the second run.

Tonight's games: Akron at Charleston, Dayton at Canton, Portsmouth at Youngstown.

Chicago Monarchs Annex ABC Team Championship

62-Day International Bowling Classic To Come To Close With Firing Today

DETROIT, May 7.—The Chicago Monarchs, who toppled 3,647 pins on the tournament alleys here April 13, emerged today as team champions of the American Bowling Congress.

Firing in the five-man event came to an end last night with a barrage from the last 70 teams of the original 6,073 entered. None of the teams on the wind-up card threatened the championship performance of the Monarchs.

The thunder of falling pins which has dominated the state fair Coliseum for 62 consecutive days will die away today with the final rolling in the minor events.

Victory for the Monarchs carried with it $1,500 in prize money and individual gold medals studded with diamonds. Other prizes ranging from $1,200 for second place down to $25 will be distributed among 1,634 teams in the order of their final ranking. The lowest score to share in the $67,935 allotted to the team event was 2,638.

The Rosedale club quintet of Kansas City, the only team besides the Monarchs to better the 3,000 mark, took second place on a count of 3,603.

Third place and an award of $1,000 went to Falcato's Schlitz of New York, who had 2,993. Fourth place, good for $875, was won by the Kiling's Beer five of Flint, Mich., who rolled 2,983.

Twenty-two shooters from Ohio and western Pennsylvania fired away at about 3,000 targets in two events.

Harper posted a perfect score in winning the 16-yard shoot, breaking 50 straight. W. R. Lentz of Youngstown, Byers of Ravenna and John Mutter of Greenville, Pa., tied for runner-up honors with scores of 49.

Johnson, firing from the 21-yard line, won the 100-bird handicap shoot by shattering 90 targets. Harper finished second in the handicap event with a score of 89, while Lentz and Louis Seaborn of Youngstown tied for third with 88's.

Among outstanding shooters competing in the two events was F. J. Carroll of Brecksville, former Grand American champion and one of three nationally-known marksmen holding the distinction of having broken 100 straight in the "roaring grand."

Carroll finished in a tie for fifth in the 16-yard shoot and eighth in the handicap event.

CINCY RALLIES TO TOP GIANTS

REDS GET SEVEN RUNS IN SIXTH INNING IN WIN OVER NEW YORK

CINCINNATI, May 7.—Manager Bill Terry hopes his team will not face another blitzkrieg such as the sixth inning drive which gave the Cincinnati Reds seven runs and a 9 to 1 victory over the Giants yesterday.

Taking their second straight from the New Yorkers, the Reds collected a run in the first, another in the third and then apparently decided on a display of their batting might.

Junior Thompson started the movement, with two out, by hitting a single into center field. Another single and two walks from Harry Gumbert loaded the bases and forced a run.

Frank McCormick singled to send two across the plate. Ernie Lombardi clouted a double against the leftfield wall to bring in another and then Harry Craft followed with a homer to score three more runs.

Paul Dean, the other half of the Dean team, took over for Gumbert and held the Reds scoreless in the last two frames.

Junior Thompson allowed the New Yorkers but four hits while the Reds got 14 safeties, five in the decisive sixth.

The game kept the Reds one and one half games behind the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers who won over St. Louis.

Manager Bill McKeechne said he might take the blanket off Johnny Vander Meer, the "Golden Boy of 1938" who suffered setbacks last year, in the final encounter with the Giants today. He will be opposed by Bill Lohman for the Giants.

Michigan Halfback Lost to Grid Team

ANN ARBOR, May 7.—A knee injury has dropped Paul Kromer of Lorain, University of Michigan halfback, from future football competition.

Kromer, a junior who shared scoring honors with Tom Harmon in 1938, announced he was quitting football because of an injury suffered at the start of last season.

He wore a special knee protector and brace on his right leg when he reported for spring practice, but feared a permanent injury. After he was hurt last season, he did not play until the Yale game in the middle of Michigan's 1939 campaign.

The board also discussed improvements to the heating plants of several of the schools but deferred action on the matter.

Lightning Strikes

LEISBON, May 7.—The home of C. M. Hazen, E. High st., was struck by lightning during a thunder storm here at 7:30 p. m. Monday. A chimney was struck and bricks were scattered about the yard. The fire department called to the scene, failed to find any blaze although the attic of the two-story brick home was filled with smoke from the electrical charge.

The Hospital And Its Development

(In connection with the observance of Hospital Day May 12, this series of articles briefly tells of the development of hospital service and medicine from the early days until the present.)

The Nightingale Pledge

Students of accredited training schools of nursing are first admitted to a probationary period of four months. If this testing period is satisfactorily passed students are then formally accepted and permitted to wear the cap of the training school. Before being accepted each student publicly takes the Nightingale pledge, which is:

"I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly:

"To pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug.

"I will do all in my power to elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my profession.

"With loyalty I will endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

Files $20,000 Suit

LEISBON, May 7.—Mrs. Frances Drumm of East Liverpool has filed an action in common pleas court here asking $20,000 for personal injuries, and names J. P. Langdon, doing business as the Columbia Cartage company of Sharon, Pa., as defendant.

The action resulted from an accident two miles north of East Liverpool on Route 20 on Dec. 27, 1939, when the plaintiff alleges a truck of the defendant company struck her car on a curve, hurling it over an embankment and injuring her seriously.

Not a Dream

KANSAS CITY, District Fire Chief Charles Mulloy, 64, was drowning on his station house bed. An alarm blared. He jumped into his boots and dove toward the brass pole.

He missed and fell 15-feet. Attendants at a hospital could discover only a slightly sprained left ankle, so he returned to duty.

Child Is Killed

YOUNGSTOWN, May 7.—Rose Marie Schulte, 5, was dead on arrival at South Side hospital late Monday after being found unconscious in the driveway of her East Side home.

Relatives told police she apparently was fatally injured by a truck driven by her father, Carl Schulte, who backed his light truck out of the driveway and left without noticing that his daughter had been hurt.

FRANKLIN, N. H.—A fugitive from the Merrimack County Farm chose the wrong motorist when he thumbed a ride. At the wheel was State Trooper James A. Humphrey, who promptly drove him back to the farm.

SCHOOL NEWS AT DAMASCUS

Four students from Goshen Township High school entered the District academy contest at Kent Saturday and each student placed. They are: Dorothy Von Kaenal, fourth in American History; Helen Sangree, fourth in English; IV. Grace Batzli, fifth in Latin I; Myra Holloway, eighth in Latin II.

COUNTY RELIEF LOAD INCREASES

Closing of Salineville Mine by Fire Adds To Rolls

LEISBON, May 7.—The relief load in Columbiana county for May shows an increase of 100 cases, representing 430 persons, over the preceding month, according to a report submitted to the county commissioners by Relief Director John W. Orr.

The increase was said to be due largely to the more than doubling of the relief load in Washington township due to the closing of the cooperative Sterling mine as a result of destruction of the mine tunnel by fire. In that township the relief load increased from 55 cases and 137 persons in April to 117 cases and 360 persons this month. An additional factor which is also contributing to the high relief rolls is supplemental relief to families receiving part time WPA employment.

The increase made necessary an additional allocation of $1,320 over the April relief sum, for a total of $9,180 set aside to meet relief needs during the month of May in the county relief area, which is exclusive of the cities of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem and East Palestine.

The allocations to the various townships for relief purposes for May are: Butler, $124; Center, $788; Elkrun, $336; Fairfield, $400; Hanover, $144; Knox, $72; Liverpool, $892; Madison, $604; Middletown, $672; Perry, $136; Salem, $732; St. Clair, $1,176; Unity, $520; Washington, $1,440; Wayne, $132; West, $212; and Yellow Creek, $460.

Lightning Victim

SIDNEY, May 7.—Killed by a lightning bolt, Charles Heiland, 58, of nearby Anna, fell from a tractor which dragged his body 175 feet and through a fence yesterday.

HONORS TAKEN BY COLUMBIANA

Shares Top Rating With Carrollton In Kent Contests

COLUMBIANA, May 7.—The Columbiana High school scholarship team shared honors with Carrollton High school at the Kent district tests, these two schools being rated as "superior" among the schools of under 400 pupils for the second consecutive year.

Of the 29 local pupils competing at Kent, 23 placed on the honor roll, as follows: Leo Kissell, first in chemistry; Betty Mae Evans, second in biology; Irene Brinker third in American history; Anna Mary Shontz, fourth in English I; Marjorie Hepburn, fourth in English IV; Alice Mayer, sixth in French I; Everett Coalmer, seventh in plane geometry.

Jean Reddington, eighth in English III; Jean Myers, ninth in plane geometry; Edith Newell, eleventh in English III; William Messersmith, 12th in American history; Louise Buhecker, 13th in French II; Barbara Robinson, 14th in French II; Arlene Riggie, 14th in world history; Bill Dewalt, 14th in Physics; Christine Pearson, 14th in biology; Betty Duff, 16th in Latin II; Eleanor Howell, 17th in English I; James Fitzpatrick, 18th in world history; Dorothy Allen, 18th in English II; Gladys Peppel, 20th in English II.

Attorney Joel Sharp, Salem Rotarian, gave an interesting talk Monday evening at the meeting of the Columbiana Rotary club at Valley Golf club, using as his subject, "The Historical Background of the World Wars." Using a large map, Mr. Sharp traced the wars and conquests of European nations for many centuries. At the conclusion of this talk he answered numerous questions.

President Elmer Detweiler announced a Ladies' night meeting for June 24, at which time the newly-elected officers will be inducted into service. He appointed P. R. Corey, C. F. Moser and Homer Stahl as a committee to arrange the place and dinner; and J. A. Crawford, Evan Roller and Paul Reeves to provide entertainment.

BERKELEY, Calif.—Alec Templeton, blind pianist, has learned to play the chimes in the tower of the campanile at the University of California. These are operated by a mechanical keyboard but it was the first time he had ever manipulated the levers on such a clavier. Templeton's hobby is collecting music boxes, of which he now has 27.

CITES ALLIES' FIRST MISTAKE

Have Been Outsmarted Consistently, A. P. Writer Observes

statesmen is that they accept the "abnormality" but refuse to admit the brilliance, because of hatred of Hitler and his doctrines.

Of Hitler's capabilities as a leader I have no doubt. He couldn't win by accident or sheer luck all the time.

Makes Every Vital Decision
Hitler is reported from Berlin to be making every vital decision and plan, himself, both military and political. His army chiefs are carrying out his orders blindly, sometimes against their own better judgment, because of their faith in his foresight.

The sooner the Allies recognize that Adolf Hitler is the brain behind the German military and political strategy, the better it will be for their cause. They must take into account also the fact that as absolute dictator he can strike with exceeding speed.

Hitler is a dangerous man to underestimate. The time has arrived when the Allies will have to select their most talented brains and use their utmost initiative to meet his challenge. The inquest in the house of commons today is an excellent thing to spur the government to greater initiative.
